

Abstract of the Disclosure

The invention provides methods for increasing the recombinant production of polypeptides, in particular Tumor Necrosis Factor Binding Proteins, from mammalian cells at a temperature below 30°C.